What Is A Collision Reporting Centre ?

A Collision Reporting Centre is a facility where the members of the public can report traffic collisions to meet provincial legal requirements and insurance needs.

Ontario law requires all collisions where persons are injured, or where property damage exceeds $2,000 among all vehicles involved, to be reported to the police.

Motor Vehicle Collisions

Steps to be taken by all drivers before arriving at the Collision Reporting Centre:

1. Check the “Exceptions” that follow to determine if police presence is required.
2. If it is safe to do so, remove vehicle from the roadway.
3. Exchange information with the other involved drivers/parties, including independent witnesses. Obtain names, addresses, phone numbers, insurance and vehicle information, including plate number.
4. As soon as possible, go to the Collision Reporting Centre with your vehicle. If your vehicle is drivable you have 48 hours to report your collision. If your vehicle is disabled and requires a tow, the tow company will transport you and your vehicle to the Collision Reporting Centre directly from the scene.
5. Bring your documentation with you to the Collision Reporting Centre – driver’s licence, ownership and insurance. The driver must report to the Collision Reporting Centre with the vehicle.

Exceptions

The Collision Reporting Centre can be used to process collisions that do not fall into one of the categories below. In these circumstances, police will need to respond and investigate the collision:

(Note: you may be referred to the CRC at the officer’s discretion despite these exceptions. If so, you must comply.)

1. Significant injuries or fatal injuries;
2. Damage to property that presents a safety concern;
3. Collisions involving criminal activity, suspended drivers or vehicles being operated without insurance;
4. Collisions causing very significant traffic blockages (after blockage is clear attending officer may direct to CRC);
5. Fail to remains where suspect vehicle is identifiable and in the area;
6. Involving federal, municipal, provincial vehicles (including MiWay and Brampton Transit buses).
7. Hazardous or dangerous goods are being transported;

DURING BUSINESS HOURS,
VEHICLES REQUIRING A TOW
FROM THE SCENE MUST BE TOWED
DIRECTLY TO THE COLLISION
REPORTING CENTRE.
